We encourage you to share your insights by posting comments where the option is available.

We will review all comments before posting them. To encourage constructive conversation, we will post only those comments that relate to the topic discussed within the corresponding news release. We expect you to show respect, civility and consideration to our department and to other visitors. We will not post comments that:

- Make personal attacks
- Are far off-topic
- Promote services or products
- Contain abusive, profane or vulgar language
- Contain sexual content, overly graphic, disturbing, obscene or offensive material, or material that would otherwise violate the law if published here
- Include offensive language targeting specific ethnic or racial groups.

We will not edit your comments to remove objectionable or inappropriate content, so please ensure that your comment complies with this policy.

To protect your own privacy and the privacy of others, please do not include personally identifiable information, such as your full name, Social Security number, phone numbers, addresses, or e-mail addresses in the body of your comment. If you do voluntarily include personally identifiable information in your comment, it may not be posted.

Any references to commercial entities, products, services, or other nongovernmental organizations or individuals that remain on this site are provided solely for informational purposes. Such references are not an official or personal endorsement of any product, person, or service.

We recognize new media tools are available 24 hours a day, and we welcome your comments at any time. However, given the need to manage resources, moderating and posting of comments will occur during regular business hours, Monday through Friday. Comments submitted after hours or on weekends or holidays will be read and posted as soon as possible; in most cases, this will mean the next business day.

Please note that communication through new media channels, such as this comment feature, does not constitute legal or official notice or comment to the Kansas Department of Agriculture, any official or employee of KDA for any purpose.

This policy may be updated or amended at any time.
